

Roadmap to Success with Franklin University

Success Step
01

You're Already Earning College Credit

- Dedicated to your professional development, the Nationwide® Claims Training Organization (CTO) partnered with Franklin University to evaluate claims training for college credit.
- As a result, your completed CTO courses are transferable college-level credit that you can apply toward a degree program or the Nationwide Claims Risk Management Certificate of Completion from Franklin.

Success Step
02

Boost Your Professional Development with a Certificate of Completion

- You can earn the Nationwide Claims Risk Management Certificate of Completion through a combination of CTO courses along with Franklin University's risk management courses.
- Finishing the certificate of completion takes an estimated 14-19 weeks.
- You'll earn 16 hours of college credit you can transfer toward a degree at Franklin University.

Success Step
03

Broaden Your Knowledge of the Insurance Industry with an Associate Degree

- With 16 transferable credits, you're just 44 credits away from an associate degree.
- You'll build industry-specific knowledge and also get general education courses to enrich your critical thinking, teamwork and communication skills.

Success Step
04

Differentiate Yourself with a Specialized Bachelor's Degree

- You have accumulated either 16 credit hours courtesy of your Nationwide Claims Risk Management Certificate of Completion or 60 credit hours by way of your associate degree from Franklin University.
- You're well on your way to the 124 credits required for the B.S. Risk Management & Insurance (RMI).

Success Step
05

Take Your Career to the Next Level with an MBA

- With an additional 36 credit hours you can earn a graduate degree.
- Build the general business knowledge that can help you to be a big-picture thinker - and a bigger contributor to the organization with an MBA.
- Designed for working professionals, Franklin's accredited MBA is well-respected by employers and can be completed online or onsite in 14 months.
