Satisfaction of Employers and Stakeholder Involvement

The School of Education works to monitor the satisfaction of educational organization within Ohio that employ teachers who completed a Franklin University School of Education licensure program, specifically their satisfaction concerning the teachers' preparation they received while in their licensure program. To do so, the School of Education administers an employer satisfaction survey and compares its results to the most recent state-wide survey results, which the School of Education survey is based upon. Additionally, the School of Education monitors the involvement of various stakeholders. Specifically, it seeks to track the size of its P-12 partnership network, as well as how it can utilize the feedback and insight provided by its advisory board for continuous improvement. By analyzing this data and insights, the School of Education is able to gain valuable feedback about areas of strength and improvement within its licensure programs.

Satisfaction of Employers: Employer Perceptions of the School of Education's Educator Preparation Survey

To gather information on employers' perceived quality of preparation provided by their educator preparation providers, the Ohio Department of Higher Education distributed an annual survey to employers of Ohio educators. Questions on the survey were aligned with Ohio's Learning Standards, Ohio licensure requirements, and elements of national accreditation.

Due to a low number of responses, the Ohio Department of Higher Education stopped administering the survey after the 2018 reporting year. Still seeing value in this survey and the insight it provides, the Ohio Association of Private Colleges for Teacher Education (OPACTE) continues to distribute the survey, using the same questions and rating scale. As a member of OPACTE, the School of Education participates with this survey.

The School of Education distributed the 2023 Ohio Educator Preparation Survey to the school administrators of Ohio Educational Organizations where at least one School of Education trained educator was working under a 204, 208, 212, 225, or 230 position code during the 2021-2022 academic year. The survey was sent to a total of 23 Ohio Educational Organization school administrators. A total of 2 respondents completed the survey for a response rate of 8.70%.

A total of 698 respondents across all participating OPACTE members completed the survey in 2023.

Note: Scale: 1=Strongly Disagree; 2=Disagree; 3=Agree; 4=Strongly Agree.

Stakeholder Involvement: Partnership Network

In order to gain insight into the needs of Ohio’s P-12 Schools, increase the recognition of its programs, provide educational opportunities, as well as to facilitate candidate clinical field work, the School of Education has worked to develop a partnership network, which is made up of Ohio Department of Education (ODE) recognized educational organizations. Through this network, the School of Education is able to foster relationships within the P-12 community by working to provide educational opportunities in the form of tuition discounts, as well as by providing assistance with partner’s educational related needs (when appropriate). In return, partners agree to host School of Education candidates for their clinical field work (clinical field experience and the clinical student teaching experience).

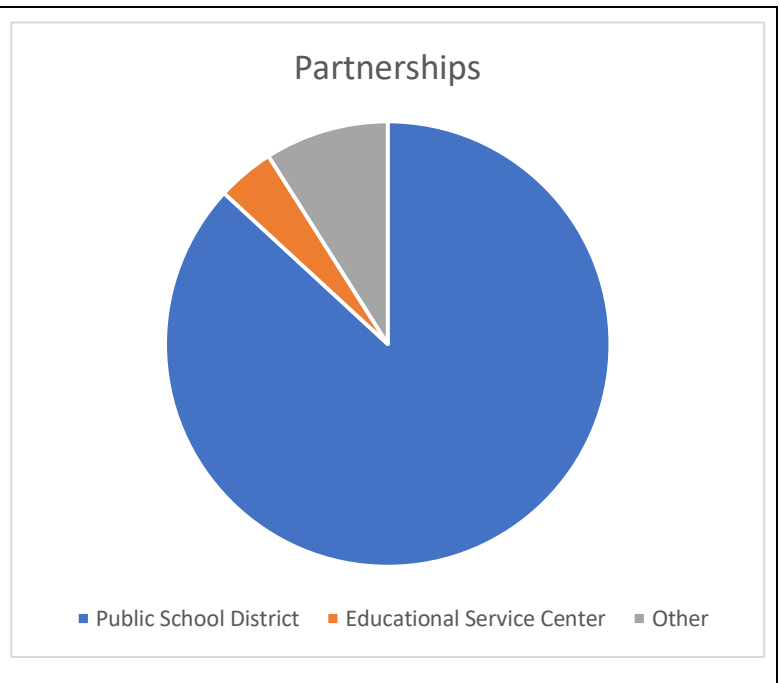

The School of Education began developing its partnership network during the 2011-2012 reporting year. Since the fall of 2019, the School of Education has led a focused initiative to spread its partnership network across the State of Ohio. In addition to tracking number of overall partnerships, the School of Education also track the overall number of sites that are affiliated with these partners – a site is affiliated with a partner (e.g. a specific school within a district) that clinical field work can be completed within. Additionally, sites are classified by their National Center for Educational Statistics locale, in order to monitor the diversity of locations for candidates to complete clinical field work.

Note: Site affiliation is determined based upon the Hierarchy Organization within the Ohio Educational Directory System

Stakeholder Involvement: Advisory Board, Quality Assurance Review, and Continuous Improvement

To gain additional insight into the needs of P-12 Schools, the evolving P-12 educational landscape, as well as get feedback on its own programs and operations, the School of Education developed an advisory board, consisting of current P-12 teachers, P-12 building-level administrators, P-12 district-level administrators, Educational Service Center representatives, career/vocational educators, and other educational consultants. The advisory board meets biannually where the School of Education provides updates concerning accreditation and continuous improvement, shares pertinent program data, as well as seeks feedback on its programs and insight into the current P-12 environment. During the second of their two annual meetings, the advisory board is presented with a copy of the School of Education Quality Assurance Annual Review Cycle Report for analysis and feedback. This report provides an overview of the School of Education’s operations, program health, candidate progression, goal attainment, and accreditation compliance. The School of Education then meets to review the report, as well as the advisory board’s feedback, in order to develop a set of continuous improvement actions, which are to be carried out over the course of the upcoming academic year.
